Introduction
- Projects included community engagement (primarily in Kensington, Philadelphia)
- Our community engagement: volunteering with a local nutrition-based program, park outreach, and video creation via interviews

Objective of Video Creation
- Create a tangible reflection of Kensington that addresses, but also explores beyond addiction from the perspective of Philadelphians and people who work in the area

Methodology
- Interviewed residents, workers, and community partners in Kensington & Philadelphia about their experiences in Kensington
- Edited video, audio, and b-roll; culminated in a ~40-min ‘documentary’ from compiled interviews

Reflection
- I helped with various community-engagement projects: I served as a point-person for park outreach events, and contributed to content creation
- Using iMovie, I edited interviews into ~ 4- or 5-min clips that would appear in our final piece
- I garnered exposure to a community that was otherwise unfamiliar to me, collaborated with fellow interns, and learned about the importance of listening to individual experience in sharing a story

Effect on Future
- Content Goal: display a final documentary at DesignPhiladelphia, Oct 2019
- Learned about intersections b/w global health and traditional science
- Exposure to health-related paths besides medical school

Conclusions
- It is important to listen to people’s needs to effectively meet them
- People’s stories are powerful, and our interviews reveal important messages about Kensington

Acknowledgements
I would like to thank Health Design Lab, Dr. Bon Ku, and Robert Pugliese for the opportunity to work with the Lab this summer. I would also like to thank CHW and ProCES for generously funding this incredible summer experience.